The Problem:

Opportunities won't wait. Every entrepreneur knows the frustration of seeing a potential business pass by because they couldn't find the right business partner, funding, or other needed resource.

Our Solution:

We enable entrepreneurship by creating a space where co-founders can meet one another and brainstorm the next big idea. Then we help turn those ideas into businesses by matching them with funding, tools, and services in a virtual marketplace.

The Opportunity:

If you are interested in entrepreneurship and want to join our growing team of four people who have a passion for helping people build businesses, this is for you. This is an opportunity to own part of the businesses and learn all about starting a company. If you are interested in contract work or don't like scrappy entrepreneurs, look elsewhere.

Qualifications

We are looking for two additional developers with a focus on customer experience who enjoy both front and backend work. Ninjas and hackers of all types are welcome, slackers are not. You must be focused on getting things done. Full time commitment is not necessary, but real commitment is essential.

Location: San Francisco Bay Area;

Time commitment: Starting asap with a minimum of 20 hours per week commitment;

Desired skills: HTML, PHP, Javascript, PERL;

Nice to have: Java, Typo3 CMS, MySQL;

Areas of interest: Machine learning, natural language processing, search, discovery, statistics, and auction systems;

Methodology: Familiarity with Agile, Scrum, Customer Development, Lean Startup, and GTD is a plus.
